VOL. 40. EMPORIUM, PA., THURSDAY, JUNE 15, 1905. NO. 17.

Miss Mildred Gillum's Reading.

An entertainment that no one can afford to miss will be given in the Presbyterian Church, Wednesday evening of next week, beginning at 8 o'clock, or soon thereafter. Miss Gillum's dramatic Readings are given under the direction of the Ithica Conservatory Entertainment Bureau, and entertains here for the benefit of the Presbyterian Church. Miss Gillum is a genuine artist in her profession. She has a voice and personality, strong and forceful. She is one of the greatest dramatic readers on the road. She has a very attractive presence, a pure distinct enunciation, a natural, easy and graceful pose and all the qualities that make up a reader of surpassing ability. It is needless to say that she has received nothing but words of the highest praise wherever she has appeared, whether North or South, East or West. "The greatest literary treat," "Thoroughly enjoyable," "Thrilling and fascinating," "Interesting and instructive.' "Among the finest entertainments ever given in Houtzdale," are but a very few of the many echoes from press notices which are unqualified in their expressions of highest appreciation.

Don't fail to attend. Tickets on sale at Harry Lloyd's store,

House Painting and Paper Hanging.

Clifton S. Larrabee, who has had two years experience with a leading Philadelphia firm, has located in Emporium and is prepared to contract for house papering and painting. Orders left at M. M. Larrabee's store will receive prompt attention.

16 3t. CLIFTON S. LARRABEE.

Sure of Good Meals.

A number of our citizens were called to Wharton last Thursday to attend to a "duty call," and all day were royally entertained by Mine Host, Chas O. Miller, of Riverside Hotel. This excellent Hotel is admirably situated to entertain fishing and hunting parties.

Attending Bankers Convention.

Mr. T. B. Lloyd, Cashier of First National Bank, left on Wednesday for Wilkes-Barre, to attend the Bankers State Convention. Mr. Lloyd is very attentive to his duties and seldom gets away for a day or two. A little rest will do him good.

Strawberry and Ice Cream Festival.

A strawberry and ice cream festival will be held at the rooms of the new Presbyterian Church on Thursday evening, June 22d at which time all wishing will be served with ice cream, cake and strawberry short cake—the latter being one of the features of the occasion. Will prepare for and hope for a large patronage. We expect to entertain you with music.

Funeral of Hon. Solomon Ross.

The funeral of Hon. Solomon Ross, whose death was announced in last week's PRESS, took place at Wharton, last Thursday afternoon at two o'clock from the M. E. Church. The friends and neighbors of our late friend assembled in large numbers to pay that respect due a friend. Judge Ross left Emporium about twenty six years ago, having previously resided at Emporium, coming here when young man. He leaves a wife, one daughter, (Mrs. Geo. Mahon, of Bailey Run) and two sons, B. F. and Bingeman Ross.

Deceased had suffered for several years from cancer in left breast. His death was very sudden, being called away while sleeping.

The following Emporium Masons attended the funeral, and conducted the services at the grave: P. R. Beattie, Geo. J. LaBar, A C. Blum, F. P. Strayer, H. L. Burns, John W. Kriner, I. K. Hockley, H. H. Mullin, T. H. Norris, Geo. D. Neidlinger, A. Chapman, Jasper Harris, J. D. Logan, W. S. Walker.

For Rent.

The store room, so many years occupied by R. Seger & Co., will be rented to responsible party.

In case it rains the management have leased the Opera House for the day and evening.

WATCH FOR SMALL BILLS.

Social Hop.

There will be a dance given in K. G. E. Hall, Cameron, Pa., Monday evening, June 19, 1905. A cordial invitation extended to all.

Gone to State College.

Dr. R. P. Heilman went to State College, Pa , on Monday, being a delegate from Cameron County Agricultural Society to assist in the election of Trustees of State College.

Graduates With Honors.

Leon Rex Felt, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Felt, of Emporium, graduated last Wednesday from the University of Pennsylvania with the decree of Doctor of Dental Surgery. This being one of the oldest dental schools in America and Dr. Felt being one of the honor men in a class of one hundred and sixty-eight, we predict a bright future for the young man. He will open an office in Emporium in the near future.

Roy Kirk to Wed.

Invitations have been received in this city to the wedding of Firman Roy Kirk, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Kirk, of DuBoistown, to Miss Elizabeth Crooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Walter Crooks, of Malone, N. Y. The ceremony will take place in the First Congregational church, at Malone, on Thursday, June 29, at 7:30 p. m. The prospective groom is a well known and very popular former Williamsporter and his host of friends here will all extend heartiest congratulations.—Williamsport Bulletin

Was an Odd Fellow.

The following is from an exchange W. H. Hall, of Cortland, N. Y., while on a trip to California last year, lost a wallet containing over $1300 which he had placed under his pillow in the berth and the porter shook it out the window when airing the coverings. It was picked up by an Odd Fellow, who found inside the purse a receipt for dues paid a Cortland lodge of Odd Fellows. He communicated with the secretary, and securing Hall's address, returned him the money. This was an "odd fellow," indeed.

A Correction.

The PRESS last week made an omission while giving an account of the selection of teachers for Emporium Schools. In the first place we omitted the name of Miss Lora McQuay as teacher of "B" Intermediate, East Ward. Miss McQuay is one of our excellent young ladies as well as a successful teacher. Lastly, the types made us say that Miss Nina Bryan was emyloyed as teacher in East Ward building, when we should have stated that Miss Bryan was engaged as teacher of Kindergarten school in City Hall, a school she has very successfully conducted for several years. These errors will creep into a paper sometimes.

An Emporium Reminiscence.

A good many years ago, when Caleb Sweasey kept the old Biddle House, (where the Warner House now stands,) there were thirteen of us gathered around the big bar room stove with Sweasey behind the bar, when an old soldier came into the room and wanted a pipe of tobacco. Now, the strange thing about the unlucky number in the case was that there was not one person in the crowd that used tobacco, which was unlucky for the old soldier. However, Mr. Sweasey said he would pay for a pipe if some one would go across the street and get it for him. The writer of this went across to Crane's and got the tobacco for the man. After filling his pipe he wanted to know if we could find R. M. Overhiser, who was an officer in the regiment that he belonged, wishing him to assist in securing a pension. After getting the desired information he "went on his way rejoicing."

I very much doubt it the same number of men could be found at this day, in a bar room in this State, none of them using tobacco.

ONE OF THE CROWD.

Emmanuel Church.

Trinity Sunday, June 18th; 7:30 a. m., celebration of the Holy Communion; 10:30 a. m., morning prayer and Sermon; 7:30 p. m., evening prayer and sermon.

CLIMBING HIGHER.

J. D. MORRISSEY.

John D. Morrissey, an Emporium boy who located at Superior, Wis., has again been promoted as will be seen by the following dispatch from Marquette, Michigan:

J. D. Morrisey, at present freight agent for the South Shore in the Superior office with Mr. Perrin, is slated for the general agency at Superior. When the circulars announcing the changes are out Mr. Morrisey's title will read "general freight and passenger agent."

All the gentlemen connected with the change are well known in Marquette and are considered among the best railroad men connected with the South Shore system.

Big Ball Game.

The Brooklyn Royal Giants, all colored, will cross bats with Emporium team, next Tuesday afternoon. Don't forget the date.

Service Omitted.

Owing to the absence of the Rector, the Friday evening service at Emmanuel Church will be omitted this week. Choir rehearsal as usual.

Fatal Accident in Lumber Yard.

John Davie, an Italian, while working on a lumber car at Cameron, last week fell to the ground and fractured his skull. He grew worse rapidly and Dr. Smith, who attended him, decided to send him to Williamsport Hospital on train No. 4, June 9. He was very violent and it took three men to hold him. He died at the hospital last Tuesday.

Another Impostor Detected.

Chief of Police Frank Mundy, who is always on the alert for evil doers and can tell a fraud on sight, eyed a supposed pin and needle fakir in front of H. S. Lloyd's last Monday. His right hand was scientifically bandaged and saturated with liniment. Chief Mundy, not to be caught by this old "fake plan" took him in hand and upon removing the bandages found his hand to be as sound as a dollar. He was locked up.

Flag Day.

Yesterday was Flag Day and it was appropriately observed in Emporium. Flags were displayed from First National Bank and other business blocks and private residences. Old Glory, as designed by Betsy Ross, was accepted by the Continental Congress June 14th, 1777, when it declared "that the flag of the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white, and that the Union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing the new constellation." Long may old Glory wave, respected and feared.

Stenography and Type Writing.

Will teach shorthand and type writing at my home on Fourth street, during the summer months. Graham's Standard method of shorthand taught and the Underwood Standard typewriter used.

I am a graduate of one of the best shorthand schools in Pittsburg and have had five years experience, three years in legal work and two in commercial. Students desiring to take up this study can do just as well for the first two or three months at home, as going away and with much less expence.

17-tf. MRS. FRED SEGER.

Too Much Drunkenness.

Drunkenness and open violation of the license law has become unbearable and disgustingly offensive to our citizens. Last Sudday morning the offensive evidence of Saturday night debauches were terribly in evidence. That these things should continue is an outrage. Policeman Mundy, single handed and alone, is doing all he can to correct the evil but he cannot and should not be expected to stay up all night, while the law is violated it is also abused, or in other words Emporium has altogether too many licensed places. With practically eighteen licensed places to say nothing of the "pigs ears" Those men who have invested large sums of money in order to furnish the public comfortable accommodations, see the law violated daily, yet they are compelled to keep "mum." If this outrage continues much longer the people will rise up and wipe out about two-thirds of the licensed places in Emporium.

The Observer.

One of the lecturers at the local Institute of the State Sunday School Association held in the Presbyterian Church last winter, spoke of the susceptibility of the child mind to impressions received through reading, and emphasized the exceeding importance of surrounding the child with the right sort of reading matter.

It is certainly true that early impressions are apt to be lasting. This is generally recognized; but it is not so generally realized how much of an impression may be made upon a very young mind by books which are supposed to appeal only to those of riper years. Even before he is able to read a word, the child may receive impressions from illustrated copies of classic authors. Almost as far back as the Observer can remember, there was in the home of his childhood a paper-bound copy of Tennyson, published by Harpers. On the front cover was a picture of the poet; and, thanks to this picture, Tennyson very early became a name and a personality to the Observer. There were other pictures in the volume; and after he had (unwillingly, he must own) passed the Rubicon of the alphabet and primer under the insistent guidance of a school teacher aunt, the Observer gradually made himself familiar with the lines printed beneath each picture. One picture was of the dead Elaine reposing on the deck of a small boat, at whose steru, grasping an oar, was seated an ancient bearded figure. Beneath were the lines:

"Then rose the dumb old servitor, and the dead, Steered by the dumb, went upward with the flood."

The Observer knew nothing at that time of the story of the "lily maid," but the picture and the quotation beneath it made an ineffaceable impression upon his childish imagination, awakening in him a reverential sense and gleam of the reality of a world of truth and beauty that transcended his own little brief experience. When in after years he read the "Idyls of the King," the story of Lancelot and Elaine was instantly attached to the point of his earliest impression, and it seems to him now almost as though he had known the whole story from infancy. In the same manner he received early impressions of "The Lady of Shalott" and "The Deserted House."

So far as the Observer is aware, his parents never dreamed that he was thus early receiving lasting impressions from their copy of Tennyson. They never called his attention to the book, never read it aloud to him, never explained the pictures to him. The book just "lay around," and childish curiosity did the rest.

Time would fail to tell of impressions received from the numbers of the old Scribner's Monthly, the chrysalis out of which sprang the Century Magazine. In the very early seventies there appeared in this a serial by George MacDonald,—"Wilfred Cumbermede." The Observer to this day has never read this story, but as a child he used to pore over the pictures, while the very name of the hero awakened in him a keen, though vague, sense of a character unspeakably noble and refined. Sometime afterwards there appeared in Scribner's a serial, "Sevenoaks," by the editor, Dr. J.G. Holland. The Observer, then a ten year old, read the story after the last instalment had been published. Saturday night overtook him just as the exciting denouement was coming in sight. Had he been been his own master he would probably have sat up all night to finish the story, but parental authity intervened and the numbers of the magazine were laid away, not to be brought out again before Monday. That was the longest Lord's Day ever put in by the Observer. The story would do credit to the shelves of the best regulated Sunday School library, and as a Sunday school book it would doubtless have been approved for Sunday reading by the parental censor; but as a magazine novel it was a horse of a different color.

The foregoing experiences illustrate the tendency of children to take the initiative (in making themselves acquainted with such literature as happens to be within their reach. The lesson for parents is that they should see that nothing save what is clean and wholesome in the way of reading matter should find its way into the home

Will Take Special Course.

Prof. E. S. Ling and wife leave today for Bedford, Pa , to visit relatives and friends during the heated season. Mr. Ling will attend Columbia University, at New York city, for six weeks, commencing July 7th. Emporium schools will probably open first week in Sept.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, June 10th, 1905.

Editor Press:—

President Roosevelt has brought, if not to a close, at least to a period, the peace negotiations which have for the past week had their center in Washington by addressing to Russia and Japan a duplicate note in which he appeals to both beligerents to bring to a close the "terrible and lamentable conflict now being waged." It is generally believed that the President did not take this step without first ascertaining that it would prove accepetable to both powers and it is generally accepted as a long stride in the direction of peace. Should peace be accomplished as the direct result of the initiatory steps which the President has taken it will add one to the many triumphs which have crowned his administration.

Suming up the general situation in the light of the best information obtainable, it may be said that following the President's frank presentation of the situation to the Russian Ambassador, which occured a week ago, the Czar finally sent for Ambassador Meyer, who, it will be remembered is a member of the Republican National Committee, from Massachusetts, and a close friend of the President's. Mr. Meyer served his apprenticeship in diplomacy at Rome where he was Ambassador throughout the last Administration. After his audience with the Czar the Ambassador cabled full account to the President, the character of his communication having been as closely withheld as possible.

He made it clear, however, that the Czar was still unwilling to be placed in the position of suing for peace, although he was grateful for the President's friendly expressions and intimated that he would be glad to know something of the peace terms which Japan would demand.

After a careful consideration of Ambassador Meyer's dispatches, the President sent for the Japanese Minister, Kogoro Takihira, who came immediately to the White House, despite the fact that he was obliged to leave a sick bed to do so. What the character of his interview with the President was can only be surmised, but it is known that Japan still maintains the position that she cannot define peace terms until Russia has done more than express a mild interest in their character. The Mikado believes that the Czar should first frankly declare that he is ready to make peace if Japan's terms are moderate, that then, the President, or other intermediary, should secure from the Czar an acceptance, at least in principle, of some of the conditions fundamental to permanent peace.

For instance, Russia should, in the estimation of Japan, recognize the right of Japan to an indemnity the property of the permanent evacuation of Manchuria, the permanence of Japan's control of Corea, etc. This much accomplished a protocol could be signed and the actual amount of the indemnity, the fate of Vladivostok, and similar more specific questions could be left for final settlement between the principals. The Czar, on the other hand, maintains that it is extremely difficult for him to commit Russia to peace without some appreciation of all that peace implies.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

DINGER.

A correspondent of Pittsburg Times, from Scottdale, Pa., makes the following reference to the death of Prof. Chas. L. Dinger, formerly of Emporium, who died at at that place on Monday, June 5th: "Prof. Charles L. Dinger died to-day at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Dinger, from tubercular laryngitis. He was 29 years old and for some years was principal of the High School. He was a graduate of Grove City college and Ada university, and took a post-graduate course at the University of West Virginia, Morgantown."

Philanthropist.

A young American woman wished to be presented at the court of the king of Saxony. The high officials, having inquired into her social standing, objected. Her father sold boots and shoes. She cabled home and the next morning received her father's answer —"Bosh! It isn't selling. Practically giving them away. See advertisement." She was presented as the daughter of an eminent philanthropist!

Ate His Boots.

In a moment of excitement Lomakin, a Moscow merchant, undertook to "eat his boots" if Japan were not forced to sue for peace by July 1 last. Against this his opponent bet 500 rubles. Lomakin ate the boots. But as no time limit was imposed he cut off and swallowed only a tiny strip each day, completing the achievement on November 20. His opponent absolved him from eating the nails.

New Government Official.

Maj. John M. Carson, who has been selected to succeed Mr. J. Hampton Moore as chief of the bureau of manufactures of the department of commerce and labor, is the dean of the Washington corps of correspondents. He is a civil war veteran and has a personal acquaintance with most of the men who have been in the public eye since the sixties.

Reasonable Theory.

It is held by some that women coming together and silently holding thought for distant persons may greatly benefit them. And this seems reasonable. When any considerable number of women are silent there must be a wonderful change in vibrations.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Chinese Robbers.

An English traveler writes: "Before the war began in Manchuria I came down the Iiao river with a Russian expedition. We fought the Chunchuses (Chinese robbers) every afternoon about tea time, but rarely inflicted any damage on them, because they hid in the crops."

Something Doing.

Will you come over and slap mosquitoes on my veranda to-night?—Life.

Population of Greenland.

Greenland now has nearly 12,000 inhabitants.

FIRST REPUBLICAN NOTE.

Questions of National Concern Indorsed by the Republicans of Ohio.

As the first pronouncement on national issues which has been made by any state convention in 1905, the declaration of principles put forth by the Ohio republican assemblage will attract the country's attention, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. The convention was rather more harmonious than most of the Ohio state gatherings have been in the past. Two Ohioans —Taft and Foraker—are aspirants for the presidential nomination in 1908, but the convention wisely declined to commit itself to either of them or to anybody at this early stage. Squabbles among the state leaders are on in 1905, as in all former years, but there was no trace of them in the convention. Nobody felt any doubt as to the nominations which it would make. Herrick has been a good governor, and, under the rule of politics prevailing in the Buckeye state, he was sure to get a second nomination. The nomination means election, for the only doubt is as to whether his lead will be 100,000 or be down to 70,000 or 80,000.

On the questions of national concern the convention's position will be applauded by republicans all over the country. "We stand by the principles of protection to American labor and American industries," it sets forth. "We believe that congress should so legislate that American ships with American sailors shall carry American products over all seas and through the Panama canal that the United States of America is building. The American navy should be made and kept equal to every need." The platform also expressed approval of the administration's policy in Americanizing Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippines; demanded the enforcement of the constitutional amendments in the matter of the ballot; approved the president's policy on the trust and railway questions, and favored adequate appropriations for river and harbor improvement. It is sound on all the issues which are before the country. In all the president's reforms he can count on the active and powerful support of the Ohio republicans. All this will make inspiring reading for the party throughout the country.

Ohio's canvass will be watched with interest all over the United States. It will be the most important state campaign of 1095, and on that account will be looked upon as affording a gauge of republican strength with the people. The platform called attention to the fact that Ohio gave a 255,000 plurality to Roosevelt last November, which was several times as long a lead as any other candidate of any party ever gained in that state. But nobody expects such a tidal wave in 1905. Nothing is at stake which could call out the interest that was excited in the presidential campaign. Herrick got a plurality of 113,000 in his campaign of 1903, in which he had Tom L. Johnson for an opponent. He may equal those figures in 1905, but the chances are that he will not. Johnson was a picturesque figure, and he made so many boasts that the republicans felt the necessity of getting out a heavy vote in order to make sure of defeating him by a majority big enough to kill him as a factor of importance in future state campaigns. This year's democratic candidate for governor, whoever he chances to be, will not attract the attention that Johnson commanded, and will not impose on the republicans the necessity for calling out such a heavy vote as they polled two years ago. Republican victory is so certain that it will be hard to get up much local excitement, and consequently Herrick's lead is likely to be smaller than it was two years ago. The campaign will be made on national issues, however; the state is the biggest which will vote this year; it has two republican presidency seekers; and for these and other reasons its campaign will be watched carefully by democrats and republicans in every state.

OF POLITICAL IMPORT.

☞President Roosevelt does not want to be nominated again, but Col. Bryan has not yet declined.—Philadelphia Press.

☞Reciprocity has taken a new turn. Col. Bryan is going abroad to show the foreigners how things are done in a free country.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

☞Socialism may make its insidious way under the cloak of philanthropy and the church, but it is nevertheless a venomous serpent.—Chicago Chronicle.

☞Col. Bryan agrees with Mr. Roosevelt on a good many propositions, but can hardly see why any man should refuse a presidential nomination.—Washington Post.

☞Mayor Tom Johnson of Cleveland has much the same views of municipal ownership as Mayor Dunne of Chicago. But apparently the sort of socialism which he seeks to introduce into city government is not very profitable. Cleveland reports a $5,000,000 deficit under his administration. — Troy Times.

☞Revenue will have to be raised, but that is more likely to be done by increasing the internal taxes or adding new ones than by modifying the tariff.—Chicago Chronicle.

☞Mr. Bryan is again to go abroad, this time to study government ownership of railroads. Mr. Bryan in making the announcement adds that he will be in politics when he comes back. In fact, that seems to be the chief reason why he is now going abroad. The limelight facilities there for him will be much better than at home until 1908 draws much nearer.—N. Y. Tribune.

FROM OHIO REPUBLICANS.

They Stand for Protection to American Labor and Industrial Progress.

The republicans of Ohio gave their voice on national issues, and gave it unanimously. The platform was adopted without a dissenting vote, and every candidate was nominated by acclamation.

Ohio speaks with a high degree of authority, says the Troy Times, for the republicans of that state gave to the country every republican elected president from Lincoln to Roosevelt—and every one of them a soldier in the union army—and cast 600,000 republican votes last november, with a plurality of 255,000 for the present chief magistrate of the nation. When the republicans of such a state speak in unison it behooves the members of the party throughout the country to give respectful attention.

What do the Ohio republicans say? They reaffirm unequivocally the republican platform of 1904. They stand by protection to American labor and industries, legislation to put American ships on the seas, the proper upbuilding of the navy, the continuance of this country's influence in both hemisphere's, the preservation of the ballot's sacredness, the prevention of racial discrimination and the support of the national progress by the methods of common sense and not by schemes that are revolutionary and unwise.

The Ohio republicans in their platform indorsed the work of President Roosevelt in enforcing the laws against combinations in restraint of trade and in seeking to stop all unjust discriminations and special favors in the form of railway rebates.

The Buckeye state recognizes in the universal prosperity of this country the best vindication of the wisdom of the republican policies. A tree that has born such good fruit deserves to be carefully preserved and its safety lies in the hands of the republican party. With Secretary Taft chosen to preside over the convention and with two of Ohio's sons in President Roosevelt's cabinet, it can be seen that the relations between the national administration and the republicans of Ohio are harmonious. Gov. Herrick in accepting a renomination, to which his efficient services entitle him, said: "We republicans of Ohio stand for Theodore Roosevelt, and we stand for everything that he stands for."

Ohio proves that the republican party is still united in the defense and advocacy of republican policies, and recognizes that the present administration is carrying out in an earnest and faithful way those principles of wise progress which will not only continue the nation's prosperity, but which will assure the retention in popular favor of the republican party as the safe guardian of American growth.

PROTECTION AND SOUTH.

Remarkable Industrial Development Due to Increase in Manufacturing.

The southern states have at present under construction 4,776 miles of railroad, as compared with 2,724 miles for the northern states, according to the Railway Age. This, says the American Economist, shows the remarkable development now going on in the south, due almost entirely to increase in manufacturing. One might well wish that John C. Calhoun and McDuffie and Hayne and the other free trade leaders of arte-war times could return and behold their old slave states, then consecrated to cotton and rice and sugar, almost keeping pace with the north in manufactures Had the Walker tariff become a permanent policy there would be no cotton mills in the south, now consuming more than half the cotton used in this country. The southerner no longer has to buy his shirts and sheets by way of Manchester, England. They can be made, as they should be made, where the cotton is grown and where the coal and iron are mined to build the rails on which to transport them to the world.

But there is room for still more factories, both north and south, for we are buying annually $50,000,000 worth of cotton goods abroad, when we should be selling that amount instead. Only by joining the north in keeping protection a national policy and protecting our home market can the south continue in its advance toward industrial and commercial independence and prosperity. A great future is before the now busy south if we maintain our purchasing power through the high wages made possible only by a protective tariff.

☞Col. Bryan will visit Europe next fall and gather all the facts he can find that are favorable to municipal and government ownership. No other kind of facts need apply.—Kansas City Journal.

☞There will be plenty of important questions to take up the public mind from now on, and the business of the country will go on improving regardless of the absence of tariff agitation. —Burlington Hawkeye.

☞We like the logic of Secretary Shaw, and we shall be disappointed if his stand-pat attitude is not backed up by the entire country.—New London (Conn.) Day.

☞There has just died in California an aged democrat who, on the election of Lincoln, made a vow that his hair should not be cut or his walking stick touch the ground until his party was in power again at Washington. He kept his vow, avoiding a barber until Cleveland was elected. He was a good type of the democratic party—short on common sense, but mighty obstinate —Buffalo Express.

IN THE NAME OF HUMANITY

President Roosevelt Makes an Appeal to Russia and Japan for Peace.

THE OUTLOOK IS FAVORABLE

Efforts that Have Been Made by the President Have Been Seconded by the Great Powers of Europe and the End of the War Is Said to be in Sight.

Washington, June 10.—An identical note, the text of which, by authority of the president, was made public late last night at the White House by Secretary Loeb, has been forwarded to the governments of Russia and Japan by President Roosevelt. In the interest of humanity the president urges the warring nations to conclude peace. It is suggested by the president that the negotiations for peace be conducted "directly and exclusively" between the belligerent nations.

The note indicates the president's belief that an intermediary may not be necessary to effect conclusive negotiations, but likewise expresses the president's willingness to do all that he properly may do to promote the preliminary arrangements for a time and place of meeting of representatives of the Russian and Japanese governments.

When President Roosevelt left Washington yesterday on a two days' trip to Virginia, he was confident that the result of the international negotiations for peace in the far east had been successful and that the final blow in the Russo-Japanese war had been struck.

MORTON FOR CHAIRMAN.

Directors of the Equitable Life Assurance Society Chose the Secretary of Navy for Manager of that Company.

New York, June 10.—Paul Morton, who retires from the secretaryship of the navy on July 1, was yesterday unanimously elected chairman of the Equitable Life Assurance Society. His election marks the first and most important step in the reorganization of the society and was followed by the tender of the resignations of President Alexander, Vice President Hyde, Second Vice President Tarbell, Third Vice President Wilson and Fourth Vice President McIntyre.

Mr. Hyde has sold his stock in the company.

The interests to which Mr. Hyde disposed of his stock number some two score individuals, led by Thomas F. Ryan, vice president of the Morton Trust Co., which has close relations with the Mutual Life Insurance Co., one of the Equitable's principal rivals.

The men requested to hold the majority stock by Mr. Ryan are ex-President Grover Cleveland, George Westinghouse, of Pittsburg, and Morgan J. O'Brien, recently elevated to the chief justiceship of the appellate division of the supreme court of this district.

IT IS AGAINST PATRICK.

Decision of the New York Court of Appeals in a Famous Murder Case.

Albany, N. Y., June 10.—The court of appeals, voting four to three, has sustained the lower courts in adjudging Albert T. Patrick, the New York lawyer, guilty of murder in the first degree, in causing the death of William Marsh Rice. On April 7, 1902, Patrick was convicted on an indictment charging him with the murder of Rice by chloroform and mercury, administered to him on September 23, 1900.

The prevailing opinion is by Judge Gray, with whom concur Judges Bartlett, Haight and Werner. There is a dissenting opinion by Judge O'Brien, Chief Judge Cullen and Judge Vann concurring, Chief Judge Cullen filing also a memorandum.

Patrick has succeeded in postponing the ultimate decision of his fate for over three years by a display of acumen and resourcefulness that has excited the wonder of the members of the bar and the public at large.

DUN'S TRADE REVIEW.

Improvement in Business Has Followed Warmer and Dryer Weather.

New York, June 10.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Although trade reports are still irregular and in many cities below expectations, there has been improvement in response to higher temperature and less rain. Manufacturing activity is fully maintained in textile fabrics, and there is an enormous output of iron and steel, despite some reduction from last month's record breaking rate of production. Building operations are large and materials in excellent demand. Foreign commerce for the last week at this port shows a splendid gain compared with 1904.

Business failures this week in the United States are 261, against 227 the corresponding week last year. Failures in Canada number 20, against 20 last year.

Flood Caused $50,000 Loss.

Livingston, Mont., June 10.—In ten minutes yesterday water destroyed $50,000 worth of property here. Rain fell in torrents. A wall of water four feet high came down the narrow valley, tore up the track and when it reached the station the stream was 1,000 feet wide and two feet deep.

Forty Rebels in Samar Were Killed.

Manila, June 10.—Enrique Daguhob, leader of the insurgent movement in the island of Samar, was killed, together with 39 of his followers, on June 4.

BLOOD SHED IN A STRIKE.

A Deputy Sheriff Kills One Man and Wounds Two Others—Riots at Saginaw and Bay City, Mich.

Saginaw, Mich., June 8.—The first blood shed in connection with the street railway strike which began in the Saginaw valley Sunday occurred here Wednesday afternoon. Deputy Sheriff Fred Harris shot and instantly killed Henry Wieck, jr., a Pere Marquette railroad machinist, and wounded Torrence Kelley and Wallace A. Douglass. Both of the latter were shot through the left leg and their injuries are not serious. Harris was immediately arrested.

Harris comes from Chicago and was hired through a detective agency. Shots were also fired yesterday during two attacks on non-union crews by crowds in Bay City. John Habowski was wounded in the hand when the non-union crew of a car fired into a mob at the corner of Garfield and Columbus avenues. William Brown, of Chicago, was arrested, charged with the shooting. Soon afterward another shot was fired into a crowd at the corner of Washington avenue and First street. The crowd was throwing stones, decayed vegetables and other missiles at the car. Conductor Henry Stoetzel was arrested, charged with firing the shot.

Bay City, Mich., June 8.—For the first time since the street car employes of this city, together with those of Saginaw and the interurban line between the two cities went on strike Sunday morning to enforce a demand for an increase in wages and a shortening of their hours, serious rioting broke out Wednesday and at times the police were unable to cope with the unruly element. Five strike breakers were hurt during the day.

IS ON HIS WAY TO ITALY.

Man Who Is Alleged to Have Stolen Gold Bars from a Burned Express Car Betrayed by a Woman.

Norristown, Pa., June 10.—A warrant was issued Friday for the arrest of Giacano Campollo, an Italian section hand who is alleged to have stolen two gold bars valued at $11,500 from the ashes of a burned express car on the Philadelphia & Reading railroad at Bethayres a few weeks ago. Campollo, it is said, sailed for Naples a few days ago and is expected to reach home in Italy within a short time. The bars belong to the S. S. White Dental Manufacturing Co. and were being shipped to the New York branch of the concern.

In transit the car containing the gold bars and other express matter caught fire near here and was detached from the Reading train and run onto a siding at Bethayres. The express car was entirely destroyed and after the embers had cooled Campolli while searching in the ashes found the bars. He is alleged to have told his sweetheart of his good fortune, but because he refused to allow the girl to accompany him to Europe she notified the detectives who were working on the case and the warrant is the result of the woman's story.

FELL THROUGH A BRIDGE

A Wisconsin Central Train Is Wrecked —Seven Men Are Believed to Have Been Drowned.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., June 8.—A westbound passenger train on the Wisconsin Central railroad yesterday plunged into Red Cedar creek from a steel bridge west of Colfax. Engineer George Phillips, Fireman Severans and five tramps are believed to be drowned. The tender, the baggage and the mail cars went down with the bridge and are buried in the water. The baggageman climbed out of a window and the mail clerk crawled through a ventilator as the cars plunged into the water and both escaped.

The smoking car stands on one end in the creek. The passengers in the smoking car were bruised, but none was seriously hurt. The rest of the train remained on the track. The center piece of the bridge had been undermined by high water and as the train reached the middle of the bridge the structure gave way.

Editorial Convention Adjourns.

Guthrie, Okla., June 10.—At the annual session of the National Editorial association yesterday John Dymond, of New Orleans, was elected president. Indianapolis was chosen as the place of meeting in 1906. The convention adjourned in the afternoon and the delegates left Guthrie on a trip, during which they will visit Indian and Oklahoma territories, Portland, Ore., Texas and California. Resolutions were passed declaring against the proposed strike of the International Typographical union on January 1, 1906, on demands for an eight-hour day with nine-hour wages.

A Close Call.

Des Moines, Ia., June 10.—Just in time to stop what would have been the first legal hanging in Iowa in ten years, an appeal was filed with the supreme court Friday in the case of Charles Rocker, of Rock Rapids, under sentence for murder. Rocker was to have been hanged at Anamosa, but a half hour before the time set for the execution the papers for an appeal arrived and a long distance telephone message stopped the hanging. Rocker killed his wife's former husband.

Sues to Obtain Chadwick's Gems.

Toledo, June 8.—Nine different suits have been instituted by District United States Attorney Sullivan for the purpose of forfeiting the Chadwick collection of jewels, alleged to have been imported without payment of duty.

Davis Has 1,700 Majority.

Charleston, W. Va., June 8.—Returns from the Second congressional district, where a special election was held Tuesday, show 1,700 majority for Thomas B. Davis, democrat, over James S. Lakin, republican.

A ROYAL WEDDING.

The German Crown Prince Marries Duchess Cecilia, of Mecklenburg-Schwerin.

Berlin, June 7.—Crown Prince Frederick William and the Duchess Cecilia, of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, were married by Dr. Dryander, the court chaplain, in the chapel of the palace at 5 p. m. Tuesday according to the ritual of the Lutheran church, which is the same for a prince as for a subject. About half of the 160 persons present were princes or special ambassadors of other countries with their aides-de-camp. Ambassador Tower attended as the ambassador of the United States.

Dr. Dryander, the court chaplain, with nine of the cathedral clergy standing near him, read the marriage service. The ceremony lasted 20 minutes, after which Dr. Dryander shook hands with the crown prince and kissed the hand of the crown princess. He then presented the bridal couple with a Bible.

After supper had been served a torchlight dance, a unique practice at weddings in the house of Hohenzollern for centuries, was performed in a modified form by 12 pages, bearing thick candles about two and a half feet tall.

The crown prince took the hand of the crown princess and walked slowly behind the pages, keeping step to the music, around a quadrangle formed by men and women standing ten feet deep along the sides of the drawing room, which is 105 by 50 feet, all bowing as the bridal couple passed. The emperor then led the crown princess and the crown prince led his mother around the same walk. Next the crown princess took each of the other princes and the crown prince each of the princesses around the hall, occasionally several at a time, so that precedence might not be disregarded.

This function came to a close after 9 o'clock, the wedding party having lasted more than four hours.

The honeymoon probably will be spent at Hubertusstock, a hunting lodge in a large forest near Eberswalde, Prussia.

FLOODS IN WISCONSIN.

Great Damage to Crops and Other Property Follows Heavy Rains in the Badger State.

Fond Du Lac, Wis., June 7.—Fond Du Lac is battling with the worst flood in its history.

The Fond Du Lac river and both its east and west branches and the De Nevue creek are raging torrents, sending water over the banks for miles beyond. Nineteen thoroughfares are covered with water. The down town basements and residence cellars are flooded. Business houses and manufacturing concerns will suffer heavily. Crops and gardens are practically ruined.

The damage so far is estimated to reach about $100,000 in the city, with possibly twice that amount in the country.

The tracks of the three railways entering Fond Du Lac are covered with water for miles.

Seven washouts are reported on the Wisconsin Central and five on the Chicago & Northwestern. The St. Paul road has not had a train in or out of this city since late Monday night. Two hotels in the flooded district can be reached only by boat. Street car service from the city to the suburbs has been tied up and the interurban line to Oshkosh is not running.

Appleton, Wis., June 7.—The worst rain storms in years swept this part of Wisconsin during the past two days. As a result this entire county is practically under water. The Fox river is higher than it has been since 1882 and is still rising. Several paper mills have been obliged to shut down on account of high water. Owing to numerous washouts no trains on either division of the Chicago & Northwestern railway have arrived here from the south since Monday.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 7.—Specials from Manitowoc, Barron, Chilton, Sheboygan Falls, Janesville and other points in Wisconsin report damage to property and more or less delay to railway traffic owing to heavy rains and rapidly rising rivers.

Durand, Wis., June 8.—Durand and vicinity is having the worst flood since 1884

DISSOLVED THE UNION.

Norway Cuts Loose from Sweden and Deposes King Oscar.

Christiana, Norway, June 8.—"Norway from to-day is a fully independent and sovereign state."

This is the text of the editorials in the Norwegian newspapers and it reflects the spirit with which the people of Norway accept yesterday's action of the storthing when it proclaimed King Oscar no longer king of Norway.

The proceedings throughout the session of the storthing were marked by the utmost dignity. The plans had been carefully prepared and nothing had been omitted to secure the inauguration of a new government under the best auspices.

The storthing will if necessary defend the step taken yesterday by force of arms.

London, June 8.—The Stockholm correspondent of the Standard says King Oscar has refused the Norwegian crown for his son.

Defied the Order Not to Assemble.

Moscow, June 7.—The all-Russian zemstvo congress, the delegates to which included the mayors of 25 of the largest cities, met Tuesday, notwithstanding government prohibition and resolved to demand the convocation of a zemsky sobor, and the submission to it of the question of peace or war.

Four Men Killed.

MADE A NEW RECORD.

A Train Runs from Chicago to Pittsburg in Seven Hours and 20 Minutes.

Pittsburg, June 9.—The distance between Chicago and Pittsburg over the Pennsylvania lines, 468 miles, was covered yesterday in the phenomenal time of 440 minutes without much effort. A special train, practically a counterpart in size and weight of "The Pennsylvania Special," the new 18-hour train between Chicago and New York, which is to be established by the Pennsylvania next Sunday, was taken over the route and strengthened the confidence of operating officials of the Pennsylvania system in their ability to annihilate distance.

Superintendent A. M. Schoyer was in charge of the train, which also carried other officials, and a guest, Mr. L. F. Loree, former general manager of the Pennsylvania lines, later president of the B. & O. and until recently in a similar capacity with the Rock Island.

The train left Chicago Union station about 7:30 o'clock Thursday morning and rolled into Pittsburg Union station at 2:45 p. m. An average speed of 63 53-100 miles per hour was maintained, including all stops. The train was standing still 28 minutes, and the actual speed per hour while the train was in motion was 68 1-10 miles.

During the first hour it ran 62 miles, in the second hour it covered 73 miles, in the third hour it covered 71 miles, including the stop at Fort Wayne to change engines. In the fourth hour it covered 68 miles, including a stop. Sixty-two miles were run the fifth hour. In the sixth hour the speed was 51 miles, but during that hour the train was standing still 13 minutes. In the seventh hour 62 miles were reeled off, notwithstanding a stop was made during that hour.

From Clark Junction to Fort Wayne, a distance of 126 miles, the speed per hour averaged 75 3-10 miles, including stops. The record shows that mile after mile was made at the remarkable speed of from 42 to 44 seconds.

FLOOD AT GRAND RAPIDS.

Enormous Damage Results from the Overflow of Grand River.

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 9.—The Grand river is still steadily rising here. The only encouraging news comes from up river points, where the water is reported to be stationary or falling. Many residences in the South End are completely surrounded by deep and swift currents. Workmen are struggling frantically to keep the north end dyke from going to pieces and it seems to be about an even chance whether they will succeed.

Yesterday afternoon the southwest portion of the city was inundated and a lake two miles long and a mile wide was formed. Whole blocks of houses were flooded and many manufacturing plants were forced to shut down. Six thousand men were thrown out of work. Hundreds of acres of farm land are under water from two to five feet. Farmers have suffered heavily from Holland as far north as Traverse City. Whole sections have been inundated and deep furrows dug in the fields by the rushing water. Crops are devastated over almost this entire section. There may be an aggregate damage to farm property alone of a million dollars.

The situation in railroad lines is steadily improving, the only line in the city which is very seriously affected being the Grand Trunk, which is still tied up completely east and west.

Three large dams at White Cloud, Hesperia and Ferry were washed completely away.

Celebrated an Ancient Victory.

Elizabeth, N. J., June 9.—The battle of Elizabethtown, between the American forces under Gen. Maxwell and Col. Dayton and the British forces in their advance on Springfield in June, 1780, was repeated in sham fashion here yesterday in celebration of the 125th anniversary of the repulse of the British. Almost every building in the city was gayly decorated, there was a parade of 6,000 persons, a military review, a naval parade on Staten Island Sound and a statue of minute men was unveiled.

Bank was Wrecked by Dynamite.

Paris, Ill., June 9.—The Edgar County National bank was wrecked by dynamite yesterday morning. The charge also demolished Bradshaw's jewelry store and Wetzel's shoe store, adjacent to the bank. The vault was wrecked. The smaller safe, in which were the bank funds, was overturned, but is intact. Walter Juntgen, the bookkeeper of the bank, has a broken arm.

Wrecked by Spreading Rails.

Flint, Mich., June 9.—Fast through train No. 3 on the Grand Trunk railroad, bound for Chicago from the east, was wrecked yesterday about ten miles east of here by spreading rails. No one was killed. Mrs. Cora Waltrouse, of Roxbury, Mass., was fatally injured and 12 others were less seriously hurt. Three coaches were ditched.

A German Prince Dies.

Berlin, June 9.—Prince Leopold Von Hohenzollern, a cousin of Emperor William, died suddenly last night, of apoplexy. The prince will be remembered in history as the candidate of the Spanish cortes for the throne of Spain and as having been unwillingly the cause of the Franco-Prussian war.

A Submarine and 14 Lives Lost.

Plymouth, Eng., June 9.—Submarine boat "A-8" was lost off the breakwater here Thursday. Three explosions occurred on board before she foundered. She had on board 18 men. Fourteen were drowned. The others were picked up.

Deported Men Claim Damages.

Denver, June 9.—Claims for damages amounting to $400,000 were filed Thursday with State Auditor Bent by counsel for the Western Federation of Miners on behalf of 67 men who were deported last year from Cripple Creek.

Letter to M. A. Rockwell.

Emporium, Pa.

Dear Madam: Two years ago the estate of the late Congressman Scott, of Erie, Pa., painted 24 Rolling Mill houses one coat Devoe at a saving of 11 per cent for paint (lead-and-oil was after the job.)

That's how the tale reads. We infer what really happened.

The buyer, as usual went by the cost of the paint; got bids. Lead-and-oil bid low and guessed the quantity low; the saving was only 11 per cent.

Nobody seems to have thought of this the painting costs two or three times as much as the paint. How much did we save on the painting? Don't know.

The tale ends with this: We often refer inquirers to those houses, for wear of Devoe.

That's a good-enough story; but nobody knows what it is. Our only difficulty is want of paint intelligence.

Yours truly
F. W. DEVOE & Co.,
New York.

Quality vs Quantity.

Hard muscles and strong body do not depend on the quantity of food you eat, but its perfect digestion and proper assimilation. When you take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure your system gets all the nourishment out of all the food you eat. It digests what you eat regardless of the condition of the stomach and conveys the nutrient properties to the blood and tissues. This builds up and strengthens the entire system. Kodol cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Belching, Sour Stomach, Weak Heart, etc. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

A man isn't a man until he has passed the swearing off stage.

No Secret About It.

It is no secret, that for Cuts, Burns, Ulcers, Fever Sores, Sore Eyes, Boils, etc., nothing is so affective as Bucklen's Arnica Salve. "It didn't take long to cure a bad sore I had, and it is all O. K. for sore eyes," writes D. L. Gregory, of Hope, Tex. 25c at L. Taggart's drug store.

Being out of a job soon gets to be a habit with a lazy man.

The Children's Favorite.

For Coughs, Croup, Whooping Cough, etc., One Minute Cough Cure is the children's favorite. This is because it contains no opiate, is perfectly harmless, tastes good and cures. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

Dizzy Spells.

Edward Happ, of Titusville. Pa., had such pain in the back that he could not do any kind of work and had such dizzy spells that he would have to hold on to something to keep from falling. It seemed as if he would never stop urinating. He had been out of health for 15 years and could hardly sleep from pain in his stomach. He says Thompson's Barosma completely cured me, purified my blood, and made me feel many years younger. Thompson's Barosma 50c and $1.00 For sale by R. C. Dodson.

A Nickel for the Lord.

Yesterday he wore a rose on the lapel of his coat, and when the plate was passed, he gave a nickel to the Lord. He had several bills in his pocket, and sundry change, perhaps a dollar's worth, but be hunted about, and finding this poor little nickel, he laid it on the plate to aid the Church Militant in its fight against the world, the flesh and the devil. His silk hat was beneath the seat, and his gloves and cane were beside it, and the nickel was on the plate—a whole nickel.

On Saturday afternoon he had had a gin rickey at the Queen's and his friend had had a fancy drink, while the cash register stamped thirty-five cents on the slip the boy presented to him. Peeling off a bill he handed it to the lad, and gave him a nickel tip when he brought back to him the change for the bill.

A nickel for the Lord and a nickel for the waiter!

And the man had his shoes polished on Saturday afternoon, and handed out a dime without a murmur. He had a shave, and paid fifteen cents with equal alarcity. He took a box of candies home to his wife, and paid forty cents for them, and the box was tied with a dainty bit of ribbon. Yes, and he also gave a nickel to the Lord.

Who is the Lord?

Who is He? Why, the man worships Him as Creator of the universe, the One who put the stars in order and by whose immutable decree the heavens stand. Yes, he does, and he dropped a nickel in to support the Church Militant.

And what is the Church Militant?

The Church Militant is the Church that represents upon earth the Church Triumphant of the Great God the man gave the nickel to.

And the man knew that he was but an atom in space, and he knew that the Almighty was without limitations, and knowing this, he put his hand in his pocket and picked out the nickel and gave it to the Lord.

And the Lord being gracious and slow to anger and knowing our fame, did not slay the man for the meanness of his offering, but gives him this day his daily bread.

But the nickel was ashamed, if man wasn't.

The nickel hid beneath a quarter that was given by a poor woman who washes for a living.—G. F. RAYMOND, in the Toronto Star.

Air Brakes on Freight Cars.

With its usual promptness the Pennsylvania Railroad is taking precautions to prevent wrecks due to the "buckling" of freight trains. It will not have been forgotten that the dreadful wreck in South Harrisburg was caused by "buckling."

It had been supposed that the law regulating the use of safety appliances on freight trains requires that only fifty per cent. of cars shall be provided with air brakes. The fact is that the law requires that "at least" fifty per cent. of the cars in each train be so equipped. This is a definite minimum, not a maximum, and is not intended to be permanent, for the law says:

"And to more fullp carry into effect the objects of said act, the Interstate Commerce Commission may from time to time, after full hearing, increase the minimum percentage of cars in any train required to be operated with power train brakes."

General Superintendent Creighton, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, has instructed all yardmasters and trainmen to use every precaution in having all trains equipped, as far as possible, with 100 per cent. of air. Other railroad companies should imitate the Pennsylvan's example and thus greatly reduce the number of accidents.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. S. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists. Price, 75c per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

WHERE DISEASE GERMS BREED.

No Need to Fear "Germs" if the Stomach Be Healthy.

The ideal breeding place for disease germs is a week stomach and digestive system. The food, instead of being assimilated, turns into a sour, slimy, fermenting mass, causing gases, distress after eating, bloating, nausea and flatulency. The poisonous germs that are given off from this undigested food enter the blood, and pimples, boils, and blotched skin is the result. Nervousness and sleeplessness come more often from weakened digestion than from any other one cause. Rheumatism and gout are directly caused by an acid condition of the stomach.

No ordinary food digestive can give lasting relief. It is absolutely necessary, if one wishes to be well, to use Mi-o-na, the only known remedy that soothes and heals the mucous membrane of the stomach and digestive tract, stimulates the solar-plexus, and strengthens the nerves of the stomach. This remarkable remedy puts the whole digestive system in so healthy, clean and sweet a state that fermentation of the food cannot exist, any disease germs in the stomach will be destroyed, and all food will be so well assimilated that a rapid and healthy increase in weight will quickly result.

Mi-o-na is a guaranteed cure for all diseases of the stomach, excepting cancer, a guarantee being given by L. Taggart with every package he sells, agreeing to refund the money should the remedy not give perfect satisfaction.

Few women realize how handsome other women really are.

Always Liberal to Churches.

Every church will be given a liberal quantity of L. & M. paint. Call for it.

4 gallons Longman & Martinez L. & M. Paint mixed with three gallons linseed oil, will paint a house.

A ROSE OF NORMANDY

By WILLIAM R. A. WILSON

"Curse him!" he cried in a voice vibrating with passion. "Cursé him! I see it all now. It is not the king's fault so much as his minister's. While Mazarin lived my father had no hope, and when this wine merchant's son succeeded him, he feared exposure, too, and so left him to die. Sangue di Dio! is it not enough to risk one's life for a king but that his minion crushes one's heart also? Attention, Pompon, and hear my words. Upon this cross, my sword-hilt, I swear by all the saints of Italy and France, by my father's murdered hand and my mother's heart in Paradise, my sword shall never rest nor my arm grow weak, nor yet my brain cease contriving against this hell-hound, child of Beelzebub, devil's spawn—this Colbert. In court, in camp, in the king's audience-chamber, or on the furthermost limits of Ind, I shall still oppose and, if I may, kill him. My strength shall oppose his strength, and my cunning his cunning, until one of us fall. Till then I keep my oath, Mary and Joseph and all the angels."

During this speech Pompon's features bespoke a lively sympathy and an ardent hatred. Tonti, after finishing, stood silent a moment, with head uplifted and sword raised in mid-air. Then with a sigh he lowered his eyes, and looked kindly at his companion. "And you, mon cher Pompon, how can I thank or repay you for your service?"

The man's eyes became a softened gray, as though the other's feeling had touched him, as he replied:

"Monsieur forgets he has cancelled all debts by his aid to-day. I am still his debtor."

"Nay, by the rib of John the Baptist, you are not. Pompon, you offered me your friendship; I accept." And pouring the remainder of the wine equally into the two glasses, he raised his with a smile.

"A toi!" he said.

"To both of us," his companion rejoined.

They touched the glasses to their lips, but before they could empty them a strange voice interrupted them by saying:

"I have a better toast: To M. Tonti and Company."

CHAPTER III.

IN WHICH THE FIRM ADMITS ANOTHER PARTNER AND AN ANCIENT DOCUMENT REVEALS MUCH WISDOM.

The two men were startled at the sound, and looked hastily toward the doorway from whence the voice proceeded.

Within it stood a man whose appearance both in manner and physical characteristics were not likely to escape observation wherever he might be placed. Taller by half a head than either Tonti or his companion, and of a decidedly heavier build; bold forehead; dark but not shaggy eyebrows; nose of a strongly marked Roman type, beneath which rested a thin dark mustache with ends twisted upward so as to give the owner a fierce and scornful expression; a full rounded chin that tended to become double—all this betokened a man of vigor and action. But the dress was that of a fop or court dandy. A brown outer coat, embroidered with gold, was the first article that attracted one's attention. This covered a vest ornamented with red ribbons. Above the coat was slung a shoulder-belt of twisted gold-thread supporting a sword; while a throatband of muslin, edged with fine lace, and a broad-brimmed beaver, surmounted by a double row of plumes, completed the upper part of the attire. Close-fitting breeches, of another shade of brown, and high boots, very large and open at the top, completed his fashionable dress. A fine lace handkerchief was held in one hand, and applied daintily to the nostril now and then for the benefit of the cyprus scent with which it was laden.

"You will pardon my interruption," he began, "when I have explained my errand, gentlemen. But first let me announce myself as Robert Cavelier—"

"Sieur de la Salle, the great explorer?" cried Tonti, coming forward.

"The explorer, certainement, but not yet great. It remains for you to help me to become that."

"I help you?"

"Yes. You are Capt. Henri de Tonti, are you not?"

Tonti bowed

"Son of Lorenzo Tonti, the Neapolitan banker who, because he sided with Masaniello, was obliged to flee from Italy?"

Tonti bowed again.

"Who first proposed the insurance plan that has filled the king's treasury; who, because the scheme was an apparent failure at first, was imprisoned by Mazarin and forgotten, and who died within the month of starvation in the Bastille?"

Tonti gazed in astonishment. "You know—" he began, but the other interposed with a graceful gesture of his hand containing the scented bit of lace.

"Yes, I know all. How you entered the French army at 18 as cadet; fought four campaigns on board ship and three in the galleys. How at Messina you were placed in charge of a camp of 20,000 men. How at Libisso a grenade shot away your left hand, and how, because of the delay in the arrival of the chirurgien, you amputated the remnant of your hand with your dagger. How you were known as 'The Man with the Iron Hand' because of the iron mechanism you had made to take the place of the lost member, and which you still wear. How, taken prisoner at Libisso, you were confined at Metasse for six months and were exchanged for the son of the governor. On your return to France the king rewarded you with a paltry 300 livres and a captaincy, and sent you back to join in the Sicilian campaign in the galleys. How peace has thrown you out of employment. How you are restless and unhappy, and are eager, now that the king has no further need of you, to take up with whatever adventure promises the most gold and glory. How now? Am I not right? Do I not know all?"

During the rapid sketch of Tonti's career, he became more and more bewildered as the speaker went on, and when he ceased speaking he could make no reply.

"Ah! mon ami," said La Salle, kindly, "do not be disturbed at my knowledge. A friend has told me. The Prince de Conti, whom I consulted in my search for a comrade, a lieutenant, told me you were suited for the post, with a hand indeed of iron and a heart of oak. That is exactly the sort of man I need."

By this time Tonti had recovered himself, and led the way to the table, motioning his visitor into a chair. He then took the sole remaining bit of gold from his pocket, gave it to Pompon, and ordered him to get a bottle of the choicest Anjou wine from the near-by cabaret. He then turned to the stranger.

"The Prince de Conti was a gallant leader to serve under in war, but I did not suppose he would have been so warm in his recommendation. What do you wish me to do?"

"Ah! that is a question easily answered," replied La Salle, as he gave one farewell whiff at his handkerchief, then put it away, and, straightening himself in the chair, spoke earnestly and with rapidity. All mannerism of the court dandy was gone, and the direct, business-like air of a man of the world who has to deal with affairs of moment took its place.

"I have, as you know, made some explorations in New France, starting out from my possessions near Montreal. But I am satisfied that much lies beyond; that there we are partly on our way to China, and that ere long one of his majesty's ships can sail direct from the harbor of La Rochelle past Quebec and Montreal to China and the Indies. It is a glorious life, a warfare against nature and wild men, with great difficulties to be overcome and victories to be gained, but free; free air, free action, free range. Once beyond the settlement of Montreal and one need be answerable to no man. With help from the governor, we can build up so large a trade in beaver-skins within a few years that great wealth will be ours, greater than a soldier of the king could ever hope to gain in all his life's service."

Pompon returned with the wine, and, after filling the glasses, stood behind Tonti's chair, watchful to see and hear all that went on.

"I have here letters from Comte de Frontenac, governor of New France, to Colbert. Already the king has granted me several audiences, and both he and his minister are favorable to my plans. He has awarded certain moneys, and I have collected all but 20,000 francs of the necessary remainder from my relatives and friends."

Tonti here bethought himself of presenting Pompon, and after he had sent him out again on a needless errand, told La Salle what he knew of his history. When he returned La Salle eyed him critically during their conversation, and finally, after arousing their enthusiasm by showing them rude maps of the wilderness and relating tales of adventure that stirred the blood, he wound up by asking them both to accompany him on his next expedition, that was to start shortly.

"You will thus, Capt. de Tonti," he concluded, "escape the arduous service of a king who forgets, and the constant hopeless storing up of hatred against his minister. I warn you that if you remain here it will be but to eat your heart out in helpless misery. You cannot touch him; he is too high. Come with me and forget the past; escape the constant reminders of wrongs suffered. You will, too, in a measure be serving your chosen king by extending his domain and adding new glory to the crown he wears; besides," he continued, in a tone a shade more earnest and subdued, "think of the thousands of benighted souls that will thus have the benefits and offices of Mother Church brought to them. Think of it; wealth gained; ambition satisfied; a name made famous; an oath of allegiance still kept inviolate. This applies also to you, M. Pompon. While in this country you will be in constant danger. Once reach the western land and all the kings of the earth with all their soldiers could not find you. Who knows what deeds of prowess you may achieve and perhaps through them win a pardon and so come home to your latter days in peace?"

"Mordioux!" cried Tonti, all aflame with eagerness to carry out the proposed plan. "When do we start?"

"As nearly two weeks from to-morrow as we can. The ship is the 'Saint Honore,' and we sail from La Rochelle."

"We will go with you," suddenly spoke up Pompon, "and you need look no further for the 20,000 francs; Capt. de Tonti and myself will furnish them as our share of the expedition."

Tonti looked at his newly-made friend in a condition bordering upon stupefaction. For himself, he had no money, and this man, just out of the Bastille, he knew could have none either. A look from Pompon checked any exclamation of surprise that he might have made, so he contented himself by offering his hand to La Salle in token of his acceptance.

"But how about the royal commission?" he asked. "Will that not be necessary?"

"Yes," replied the explorer, "but leave that to me. To-day is Tuesday. Meet me in the king's antechamber on Friday and all will be easy. Now, as for myself, I must go on to the palace. You see now why I interrupted your toast. Fill me another glass and pledge all health and success to the three members of the firm of M. Tonti and Company."

So saying, he drained his wine to the last drop, and, picking up his hat and drawing forth his handkerchief, waved a perfumed farewell to the two men and left the room.

For a moment there was silence in the room. Then Pompon spoke: "Fortune is a woman; if you neglect her to-day, expect not to regain her to-morrow. She knocks once at every man's door; he is a fool who does not invite her in."

"True, mon ami," replied the other, "and in this case, if we once get her in, we will bolt the door behind her so she cannot escape. But tell me, why did you offer the 20,000 francs when we have not so much as half a louis left—unless perhaps you found the pockets of those clothes I gave you lined with rouleaux of gold?"

"The sea is not measured with a bushel, neither is a man always known by his looks," was the enigmatical reply. "Wait for me here," and Pompon glided out of the door and stole silently down the stairs. He was back within a half hour, bearing in his hand a mildewed bit of parchment. He summoned Tonti to the window where the light was good and carefully unfolded it.

"This happens to be a parchment written upon with a secret ink that dampness will not blur. The day before M. Fouquet was taken I learned of his proposed arrest, and at considerable risk warned him of his danger and begged him to flee while there was yet time. He only laughed and said he would not run. He wrote on this piece of parchment and handed it to me, saying: 'Mon brave Pompon, I have buried the sum of 50,000 francs in the place described here. Take this, and if I am arrested, go and get the money and leave France at once.' He was arrested the very next day, and I the day after, before I had time to get the gold. I managed to hide this paper with my friend, the cabaretier, who furnished you with the dye, before I was imprisoned. You see he has been faithful to my trust and has kept it safe for me all these years."

So saying, he thrust the paper before the astonished eyes of Tonti, who read the first line as follows:

"Emrmrfctgjjyecmdcamscirmrfc."

"'Tis all in cipher!" he exclaimed.

"Yes, the same that M. Fouquet used, and in which I wrote his secret messages," responded Pompon. "But it is very simple. Each letter is two places in the alphabet removed from the proper one. So all you have to do is to count ahead two letter each time. The first line will then be:

"'Go to the village of Ecouen to the.'"

"Bravo!" cried Tonti, "let us finish reading it."

They went on, and, after the whole had been deciphered, the hidden message read:

"Go to the village of Ecouen to the inn called the Striped Ass. Take out the middle floor brick in the row next to the hearthstone and pull on the iron ring beneath it. Then go to either end of the stone and bear your weight upon it. The stone will turn, and in the hole beneath it you will find two bags, each containing a thousand pistoles. They are yours in token of many years of faithful service."

"Corpo di Bacco! Two thousand pistoles!" exclaimed Tonti. "That will leave 30,000 francs, after paying M. de la Salle. What will you do with it?"

"I think we can find a way to spend it."

"We?"

"Yes, certainement. Have we not drunk to the health of M. Tonti and Company? We have much to do before we leave France, and both of us may need to have a goodly sum of gold. It will be a powerful ally in danger."

"Devil take me, Pompon, if you are not right. A full purse is better than ten friends."

"We shall need it, too, when we reach the new world, for there will be many difficulties there to be overcome. Money will make the pot boil, though the devil pour water on the fire," concluded Pompon.

"Ma foi! mon ami, I accept your contribution for the adventure. I shall repay you my share out of the first load of beaver-skins I sell. But, what am I saying? The money is not ours yet. It may have been discovered before now or we may find the inn destroyed. 'Tis now 14 years since he gave you this paper," and from a state of exaltation, Tonti became suddenly sober and crestfallen.

"It is good to fear the worst; the best saves itself," said Pompon. "The only way to settle the question is to go there. Do you know where Ecouen is?"

"Ma foi! No."

"It is distant about four leagues from Paris. By leaving here at eight o'clock to-night, we can ride there easily in two hours, do what we have to do, and be back by day. It is for you to borrow 100 livres from your friends and hire a horse and an ass. Leave the ass with the cabaretier in the Rue de la Tanerie, and be yourself near the Porte Dauphin. If you see a monk pass out by the gate mounted on an ass, follow him, but do not address nor try to come up to him, until he speaks to the animal he rides. I shall have to have a few livres to get my disguise with, so you had best be gone to borrow the money."

"Par Dieu! a good plan," said Tonti, "I shall do it. You beat me at the game of cunning, but when real open fighting comes, I shall do like this," and, seizing Pompon about the waist, raised him from the ground, and by a sudden powerful exertion held him aloft above his head with his two arms extended. "I have you now, you weazel. Where shall I throw you?"

"Your arm may be strong, but my wit is not wanting," was the reply. "You know a mouse can gnaw a rope that a lion cannot break. Come, mon capitaine, it is time now for work; to-morrow we can play."

[To Be Continued.]

Irish Proverbs.

The proverbs of a nation are the distilled wit of generations of its people; and the true wit of the race is oftentimes in proportion to the truth and beauty of its proverbs, says Leslie's Monthly Magazine. Few nations, and few languages possess more beautiful sayings than the Irish. "The silent mouth is melodious," is an Irish aphorism pregnant with beauty and poetry. And another saying, inculcating a charity which is spiritually needed in this modern world of ours, is that which tells us "Our eyes should be blind in the abode of another." The beautiful faith and the magnificent optimism of the Irish race is well pictured in their proverb, "God never shuts one door but he opens two." "Autumn days come softly, quickly, like the running of a hound upon a moor," is poetic, vivid truth. And here is a sharp, satirical one which cuts several ways at the same time: "A poem ought to be well made at first, for there is many a one to spoil it afterwards."

Political Joke of the '30s.

During the late election at Stamford a violent tory went into the shop of a whig butcher.

"What is your pleasure?" demanded the knight of the cleaver.

"I want a calf's head," was the reply.

The butcher having two, inquired of his tory customer which he would prefer-a tory one or a whig one.

"A tory one, to be sure," rejoined the customer.

"Very well, sir, I'll send it home for you."

When the cook proceeded to dress it, the brains were missing, and the master was speedily made acquainted with the circumstances, when he returned to the butcher's and indignantly inquired of him what had become of them.

"Are you not aware, sir," replied cleaver, "that tory heads do not contain brains? And did you not choose a tory calf's head in preference to a whig one?"—Hudson Rural Repository, 1831.

Courtship in Shakspeare's England.

In Shakspeare's England courtship was not the prolonged and romantic affair it is now, writes Henry T. Finck, in Harper's Magazine. The young fellows did not make and unmake engagements as they pleased, without consulting their parents. The etiquette of betrothal was almost as formal and as rigid as that of marriage is to-day. It consisted of three observances—the joining of hands, a kiss and interchange of rings, all in presence of witnesses, and usually in church. The man had to promise under oath to "take this woman whose name is N. to wife within forty days." It is needless to say that under such circumstances — engagements never lasting as much as six weeks, partners usually chosen by the parents, marriages at the age of fourteen, and honeymoon trips unknown—there was much less opportunity than there is now for the development of romantic love.

For Business Reasons.

A caller at a boarding house was surprised to see a fine greyhound basking in the sun outside the kitchen door.

"I didn't know you had a dog," she said. "He's a beautiful animal. How long have you had him?"

"Two or three years."

"How does it happen I have never seen him before?"

"We don't allow him to leave the back yard," replied the proprietress, with emphasis. "What kind of an advertisement would it be for a boarding house to have a creature as lean as that dog is walking around in front of it?"—Chicago Tribune.

The Duration of the Job.

It seemed to Mr. Brown that Johnson the carpenter, had taken a ridiculously long time making the repairs he had been hired to do and he determined to come to an understanding.

When he reached the place that was being repaired he found the carpenter's son alone in his glory.

"Look here, my lad," he said, "I should like to know when you expect to finish here?"

"Well, sir," was the young man's reply, "father's gone to look at another job. If he gets it we will finish today; if he don't goodness only knows when we will finish!"—Chicago Record-Herald.

PORTLAND EXPOSITION NOTES.

The manufacture of gold pens will form one of the many interesting working displays at the Lewis and Clark exposition.

The Illinois building at the Lewis and Clark exposition is a replica of the home in which Abraham Lincoln lived while a resident of Springfield. This property is said to have been the only real estate the martyred president ever owned.

The Massachusetts building at the Lewis and Clark exposition has as its distinguishing feature a replica of the famous Bullfinch front of the old state house in Boston. When the state house was rebuilt Massachusetts went to an expense of $3,000,000 to retain this front.

A single piece of native copper, weighing 1,000 pounds, will be part of the mining display from Josephine county, Oregon, at the Lewis and Clark exposition. The chunk of copper was taken from the Golden Standard ledge, the ores of which have been found to assay $18 a ton in gold and $22 in copper.

The railroads have agreed upon one fare for the round trip from all eastern points to Portland, during the Lewis and Clark exposition. This is the cheapest first-class transporation ever offered from the east, and will afford opportunity for seeing the Pacific coast country which may not be repeated in many years.

Western school-teachers have adopted a novel method of advertising the Lewis and Clark exposition. They give their children as an exercise the task of writing a letter to some relative or friend in the east, extending an invitation to attend the exposition. School children of Moscow, Idaho, recently wrote 1,100 such letters.

An excursion that will doubtless attract great interest is one planned by F. R. Drew, of New York city. Mr. Drew will conduct a train of prairie schooners from Portland, Me., to Portland, Ore., the latter part of the journey being traveled along the trail followed by Lewis and Clark a century ago. The travelers expect to reach Portland in October, in time to attend the Lewis and Clark exposition.

COMPLETELY RESTORED.

Mrs. P. Brunzel, wife of P. Brunzel, stock dealer, residence 3111 Grand Ave., Everett, Wash., says: "For fifteen years I suffered with terrible pain in my back. I did not know what it was to enjoy a night's rest and arose in the morning feeling tired and unrefreshed. My suffering sometimes was simply indescribable. When I finished the first box of Doan's Kidney Pills I felt like a different woman. I continued until I had taken five boxes. Doan's Kidney Pills act very effectively, very promptly, relieve the aching pains and all other annoying difficulties."

"The Simple Life"

Proper Food is Really the First Step in Right Living.

One of the evils of our complex modern way of living, is our unnatural and unhealthy foods.

To have really good health and a good stomach it is necessary to eat simple nourishing food. EGG-O-SEE is the ideal food, and reaches the proper requirements in this direction more nearly than any other cereal now on the market.

To make EGG-O-SEE the kernels of the choicest California white wheat are first cleansed by brushes, then thoroughly steam cooked, then flaked and crisped to a maple tint and delicately flavored with natural fruit juice and pure grain sugar.

In these delicious flakes, lies the mighty strength-giving power of the whole wheat grain that evenly nourishes every part of the body, and gives physical and mental energy that means splendid health and successful endeavor.

RAILROAD RATE LEGISLATION.

It Is Unconstitutional and Unnecessary to Confiscate the Property of the Railways.

Testifying before the Senate Committee at Washington, Inter-State Commerce Commission Prouty said in discussing the proposition to give to that Commission the power to regulate railway rates:

"I think the railways should make their own rates. I think they should be allowed to develop their own business. I have never advocated any law, and I am not now in favor of any law, which would put the rate making power into the hands of any commission or any court. While it may be necessary to do that some time, while that is done in some states at the present time, while it is done in some countries, I am opposed to it. . . . The railway rate is property. It is all the property that the railway has got. The rest of its property is not good for anything unless it can charge a rate. Now it has always seemed to me that when a rate was fixed, if that rate was an unreasonable rate, it deprives the railroad company of its property pro tanto. It is not necessary that you should confiscate the property of a railroad; it is not necessary that you should say that it shall not earn three per cent. or four per cent. When you put in a rate that is inherently unreasonable, you have deprived that company of its rights, of its property, and the Circuit Court of the United States has jurisdiction under the fourteenth amendment to restrain that. . . . I have looked at these cases a great many times, and I can only come to the conclusion that a railroad company is entitled to charge a fair and reasonable rate, and if any order of a commission, if any statute of a state legislature, takes away that rate, the fourteenth amendment protects the railway company."

HER WEAKNESS GONE

HOT FLASHES AND SINKING SPELLS CONQUERED AT LAST.

Mrs. Murphy Tells Her Fellow-Sufferers How She Got Rid of Serious Troubles by Simple Home Treatment.

"I had been bothered for several years," said Mrs. Murphy, "by stomach disorder, and finally I became very weak and nervous. Flashes of heat would pass over me, and I would feel as if I was sinking down. At such times I could not do any household work, but would have to lie down, and afterwards I would have very trying nervous spells."

"Didn't you have a doctor?" she was asked.

"Yes, I consulted several doctors but my health did not improve. One day a friend asked me why I did not try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She assured me that they had proved of the greatest benefit in the case of her daughter. In fact, she praised them so enthusiastically that my husband got me a box."

"And what was the result?"

"Before I had taken half of the first box my condition was greatly improved. The quickness with which they reached and relieved all my troubles was really surprising. After I had used only three boxes I had no more heat-flashes or weak spells. Thanks to them, I have become a well woman."

Mrs. Mary D. Murphy lives at No, 1903 Force street, Fort Wayne, Indiana. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the remedy which she found so satisfactory, furnish directly to the blood the elements that give vigor to every tissue of the body. They can be depended on to revive failing strength, and to banish nervousness. Their tonic properties are absolutely unsurpassed.

As soon as there is drag, or dizziness, or pallor, or poor circulation, or disordered digestion, or restlessness, or pains, or irregularities of any kind these famous pills should be used. They have cured the most obstinate cases of anæmia, dyspepsia, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervous prostration and even partial paralysis.

If you desire information specially suited to your own case write directly to the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N.Y. Every woman should have a copy of Dr. Williams' "Plain Talks to Women." which will be mailed free to any address on request. Any druggist can supply the pills.

FOXTAIL MILLET.

Several Varieties of the Plant Are Being Grown in America—Are Large in Form.

Under the name of Japanese millets several kinds of foxtail millet are being grown in this country. Most of these millets are large in form and yield heavily in seed and forage, under favorable conditions, but do not withstand drouth well, and when a dry spell comes they yield to it quicker than do most of our common millets.

There have also been introduced

from Korea millets known as foxtail, which differ considerably from the millets grown in this country and also from the Japanese, says Farmers' Review. We illustrate the Korean millet. This millet has done well on the grounds of the agricultural department in Washington, but as yet little experimentation has been done with them in the country as a whole.

TO ESCAPE INSECTS.

Rotation of Crops Effects Much Good in Ridding Farm of Destructive Life.

On a farm of good size the best way to keep the destructive insects down is to rotate crops. I find that in that way I can generally escape the worst of the insect pests, says a Michigan farmer in the Farmers' Review. Where the same crop is planted on the same field year after year the insects have a chance to establish themselves in colonies. In the case of the plant lice on corn roots there is little danger the first year because the ants are the real mischief-makers. If the field has been in oats the previous year we may expect to find no ants there, for lice do not feed on the roots of the oat plant. Not till corn has been on the same land for several years will the ant invasion become serious, and without the ant invasion we have nothing to fear from the lice.

The Hessian fly is quite easily stamped out by taking away his food supply for one year, but we must do that by depriving this insect of all of his mainstays in feeding—wheat, rye and barley. Not only must we put the land into something else than those crops, but we must be careful that in the field planted to corn or potatoes no volunteer wheat, rye or barley is permitted to grow.

One Bee Tree.

In June last we cut a bee-tree. The bees, though considerably scattered about by the tree breaking when it struck the ground, were hived and at once went to work. When we went after them, however, the hive was empty. In passing the spot four months later we noticed been flying, and found the swarm under a portion of the tree. They had built a number of combs, a foot in depth, and had considerable brood and honey, all out in the open air.

Good Drinking Fount.

A good drinking fount for little chicks is made by filling a shallow crock or pan with pebbles about the size of hickory nuts or as large as walnuts, and then filling with water. The chicks can drink between the pebbles, but cannot get wet or drown. The vessels should be scalded out two or three times a week.—Commercial Poultry.

Milk a Perfect Food.

It needs to be frequently repeated that milk is a perfect food, and alone would sustain life. Eggs, bananas and some other foods will do the same. But Irish potatoes will not. Pure, unskimmed milk is adapted to all ages, and is difficult to surpass as food.

Thought She Couldn't Live.

Moravia, N. Y., June 5.—Mr. Benjamin Wilson, a highly respected resident of this place, come very near losing his wife and now that she is cured and restored to good health his gratitude knows no bounds. He says:—

"My wife has suffered everything with Sugar Diabetes. She has been sick four years. She doctored with two good doctors, but kept growing worse. The doctors said she could not live. She failed from 200 pounds down to 130 pounds. This was her weight when she began to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, and now she weighs 190, is well and feeling stronger every day.

"She used to have Rheumatism so bad that it would raise great bumps all over her body and this is all gone, too.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills are a God-send to those who suffer as my wife did. They are all that saved her. We can't praise them enough."

Backache, "The Blues"

Both Symptoms of Organic Derangement in Women—Thousands of Sufferers Find Relief.

How often do we hear women say: "It seems as though my back would break," or "Don't speak to me, I am all out of sorts?" These significant remarks prove that the system requires attention.

Backache and "the blues" are direct symptoms of an inward trouble which will sooner or later declare itself. It may be caused by diseased kidneys or some uterine derangement. Nature requires assistance and at once, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound instantly asserts its curative powers in all those peculiar ailments of women. It has been the standby of intelligent American women for twenty years, and the ablest specialists agree that it is the most universally successful remedy for woman's ills known to medicine.

The following letters from Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. Cotrely are among the many thousands which Mrs. Pinkham has received this year from those whom she has relieved.

Surely such testimony is convincing.

Mrs. J. G. Holmes, of Larimore, North Dakota, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I have suffered everything with backache and womb trouble—I let the trouble run on until my system was in such a condition that I was unable to be about, and then it was I commenced to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If I had only known how much suffering I would have saved, I should have taken it months sooner—for a few weeks' treatment made me well and strong. My backaches and headaches are all gone and I suffer no pain at my menstrual periods, whereas before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I suffered intense pain."

Mrs. Emma Cotrely, 109 East 12th Street, New York City, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I feel it my duty to tell all suffering women of the relief I have found in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When I commenced taking the Compound I suffered everything with backaches, headaches, menstrual and ovarian troubles. I am completely cured and enjoy the best of health, and I owe it all to you."

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhœa, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles.

No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles. Refuse to buy any substitute.

FREE ADVICE TO WOMEN.

Remember, every woman is cordially invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about her symptoms she does not understand. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass., her advice is free and cheerfully given to every ailing woman who asks for it. Her advice and medicine have restored to health more than one hundred thousand women.

Ask Mrs. Pinkham's Advice—A Woman Best Understands a Woman's Ills.

You dont buy trouble when you buy an OLDSMOBILE

It is the most practical automobile for use in small towns and in agricultural districts because the investment is the smallest for a good motor car—the cost of keeping it in repair is the lowest of any—the gasoline expense is the lowest—it will carry two people over any passable road—it is always ready—does not eat its head off—and will always bring a good price second hand.

Standard Runabout has 7 h. p.—3 inch tires, artillery wheels, 5 gals. gasoline capacity. 5x6 cylinder, 25 miles an hour speed. Price $650.00 f. o. b. factory.

Write us for complete details and handsome catalogue. Also "Goop Talk," a clever bit of automobile nonsense, and "The Rolling Peanut," Geo. Ade's latest story about an Oldsmobile.

NOW IS THE TIME TO PAINT.

Important Memorandum.—The painter is the most important factor in painting. A job complete, done by a good painter, with the best quality of paint, costing say $60.00 ($40.00 labor, $20.00 paint), will last five years. The same paint applied by a dauber ($20.00 labor, $20.00 paint), will last only two years. Thus the "per-year-cost" of the good painter's job is $12.00—the poor painter's, $20.00

Above all, USE GOOD PAINT!

The oil! linseed oil! Just pure linseed is the "life"—the one great requisite of good paint for which there is no substitute—and the sure way to get the pure, fresh linseed oil is to buy the oil and separately. For every gallon of Kinloch Paint buy one gallon of linseed oil. This makes two gallons of paint, ready for use. You then know that the paint you're putting on your house is alive—"the genuine oil is in it," and paint is not paint unless it contains 50% of really pure oil. We will further explain the virtues of Kinloch Paint if you will call and see us.

Kinloch
READY TO MIX, NOT READY MIXED
HOUSE PAINT

THE COUNTY.

CAMERON.

A farewell party was given in honor of Mr. John Rhodes at his residence Thursday evening last. About twenty couples were present. After a bountiful supper was served by Mrs. Rhoads and daughters, Reed Brothers Orchestra, of Beechwood, furnished some good dance music, which everybody took advantage of to their entire satisfaction. James B. Hayes capped the climax by distributing a box of Pertectos to the guests.

Jas. B. Hayes is soon to leave for West Virginia, where he will erect a hotel. Mr. Hayes is a model landlord and the best wishes of his many friends in this county go with him. Bartender Robt. Glenn will remain with the Valley House, which means a great deal towards the success of the new proprietor, Mr. Ostrum.

Cameron people will be pleased to learn that Miss Edna Summerson, of Sterling Run, is going to teach our school this winter. Miss Summerson is a splendid teacher and her return gives general satisfaction. She has just completed a course in the Normal School at Valpariso, Ind.

The porter at the New Cameron House, while attempting to jump a freight train on Saturday, slipped and sprained his ankle, narrowly escaping being ground under the wheels. He says he will walk in the future.

Mr. H. W. Sloan, of the firm of A. Chalmers & Co., Phil'a, has been loading lumber at the Cameron Lumber Co's yards, for the past week. He is stopping at the New Warner, Emporium.

J. W. Fauver has taken the contract of building the new dwelling houses at the coke ovens. He is assisted by W. T. Dininny, A. A. Terry and Charles Fauver.

Any person giving information as to the whereabouts of Landlord Walker's pet crow, will be rewarded by calling at the New Cameron House.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wykoff were called to Bingham, Sunday on account of death in Mrs. Wykoff's family.

Miss Bertha Rhoads is suffering with a caushed hand, caused by its getting caught under the piano.

Foreman Joseph Robinson and men are building the new siding for the Keystone Powder Co., west of Emporium.

Postmaster Lanniger is suffering from a relapse and is now confined to his bed.

Mrs. John Mack and Mrs. Daniel Sullivan are visiting in Olean.

Mr. Albert Dreyburg is visiting friends in Morrisdale.

Mr. Merriman and family have moved to West Virginia.

Mr. James Anderson is visiting his family in Olean.

Miss Florence Rhoads is visiting at the Chutes.

NOW IS THE TIME FOR HYOMEI.

Far Easier to Cure Catarrh Now Than at Any Other Season.

Now is the time to use Hyomei, when the early summer days make it so easy to cure catarrh troubles. The Hyomei treatment, breathed for a few minutes three or four times a day in May or June, will do good twice as quickly as it did in January, and nearly everyone knows that used faithfully then, it completely rids the system of catarrh.

Hyomei is a purely vegetable preparation whose active curative properties are given off when it is breathed by the aid of the pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit. It destroys all germ life in air passages, purifies the blood by supplying additional ozone, and its healing, volatic, antiseptic fragrance reaches every corner of the respiratory tract as no medicine taken through the stomach can possibly do.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but one dollar, and consists of a neat inhaler that can be carried in the purse or vest-pocket and will last a lifetime, a medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomei. Extra bottles of Hyomei can be procured, if desired, for fifty cents.

At this season of the year when catarrhal troubles can be so quickly and read cured, the merits of the Hyomei treatment should be carefully investigated by everyone and a complete outfit should be in every home. L. Taggart gives his personal guarantee with every Hyomei outfit they sell to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction. There is no risk whatever to the purchaser of Hyomei.

Peculiarity About Insurance.

When insurance companies grant insurance an life, they are particular to have the person examined by a doctor to ascertain if he is in sound health. They are most particular about the analysis of the urine for the diseases of the kidneys are the most fatal and so many people have diseased kidneys without knowing it. If there are any symptoms they are usually (even by doctors) attributed to some other cause. Thompson's Barosma is the safest remedy to take for it will do good whether you have kidney trouble or not. Thompson's Barosma gives rest to the nerves, 50c to $1.00. For sale by R. C. Dodson.

There's no bother

about using

Lucas Paints

(Tinted Gloss)

They are easy to use and ready to use and are more satisfactory in the end.

Just stir the paint in the can and you have far better paint than can be mixed by hand. It's mixed in exact proportions, of pure materials, with the knowledge of sixty years. Lucas Paints are better than others for many reasons. Ask your dealer why.
